Don Gonyea to visit

Play it Again, Sam ... Recycled Music Sale

August 16 members only Preview Sale*
August 17 & 18 9 am – 9 pm
August 19 Noon – 5 pm

*GLT Memberships available at the door.

If you have yet to visit the GLT Recycled Music Sale, you are missing one of our most entertaining events of the year. Our annual sale is the station's biggest fundraiser, with proceeds benefitting the GLT Equipment Fund. That's good for the station.

It's where you can find some valuable additions to your music collection for ... well ... a song. Whether you're looking for Stevie Wonder or Stevie Nicks, Mozart or The Monkees, Muddy Waters or Handel's Water Music, this is the place for you. It's a trip down nostalgia lane with lots of side alleys. That's good for you.

So save a bundle and support GLT at the same time. LPs are just a buck, CDs only $3. We'll have cassettes, 45s, 8-tracks, sheet music, and a wide variety of stereo equipment and musical instruments. A friend of GLT just donated their entire collection of laser discs — some have never even been opened — and player.

Crossroads Center in Normal has once again donated a beautiful space with plenty of parking, and we'll have everything sorted and alphabetized for easy shopping.

Volunteer!

We need lots of help setting up and staffing the sale. Contact Linda Healy at lihealy@ilstu.edu to (309) 438-5083 to sign up.

Sweet Corn Blues Festival

August 25–26 • Uptown Normal • Free!

The Sweet Corn Blues Festival celebrates the bounty of Central Illinois' signature crop — sweet corn — and the bounty of Central Illinois' musical talent — sweet, sweet blues.

It's a two-day festival featuring some of the area's best blues bands who will cook up a tasty treat for your ears, while you're munching on some of those golden ears. The corn is cooked on the spot with the help of an antique tractor (you've got to see it to believe it!). You've never had corn so sweet or so fresh.

Thanks to the generous sponsorship of CEFCU, you'll hear some amazing blues.

Awards, and More Awards for the GLT News Department

by GLT General Manager Bruce Bergethon

Once again, the Associated Press and the Radio-Television News Directors Association have honored the WGLT News Department for journalistic excellence. In March, the Illinois AP awarded GLT more first place awards than any other down-state public radio station. It was the sixth straight year that the three-person GLT news team had won multiple awards. GLT won three awards in this year's contest, all first place: Best Newswriter — Charlie Schlenker, Best Sports — Charlie Schlenker, Best Hard News Feature — Willis Kern. In early April, Schlenker also won his third consecutive regional Edward R. Murrow Award — automatically entering him into the national contest, in which he has won Murrow Awards two years running.

"At the awards ceremonies, it feels good to be inside that circle with the best journalists in the business. More importantly, when you come home from winning awards, you begin to put increasingly higher standards on your own performance."

Willis Kern,
GLT News Director

"You don't always know how the listeners feel about your stories. So it's really satisfying when our peers in the news business independently verify that the work we do is worthwhile. Because the point of the work is to serve listeners."

Charlie Schlenker,
GLT Assistant News Director

The GLT Newsteam (l to r): Assistant News Director Charlie Schlenker, Morning Edition Host Jim Browne, and News Director Willis Kern

Both Willis and Charlie are modest about their award-winning partnership. Schlenker bemusedly notes, "We don't really believe all this hoopla," and Kern says, "the best part of winning awards is that we have to take a little break from news coverage to decide where to put the plaques on the wall." Still, Kern believes GLT's wall of awards reflects a substantive improvement in public radio local reporting over the years, and Schlenker concurs: "We're better storytellers than we used to be, using higher production values on sound-rich pieces. I hope that this makes us more significant in the lives of our listeners."

Hear GLT Jazz every weekday from 9 am – 4 pm, and Monday – Thursday nights. See schedule on page 23. GLT Jazz Host Laura Kennedy recommends:

Alan Vache With Benny in Mind (Arbors Records)
The King of Swing, Benny Goodman, was a huge influence on Alan Vache from the time he was knee high to a clarinet. On his new CD, Vache pays tribute to the master with faithful, lively interpretations of some of Goodman's classic hits. Moonglow is here. So is Avalon, Air Mail Special, and scads more swingin' tracks.

Sachal Vasandani Eyes Wide Open (Mack Avenue)
Sachal Vasandani is the kind of vocalist that raises goose bumps and expectations for his future. He has a powerful and full-bodied voice and a debonair delivery. His interpretations of standards, both jazz and pop, are fresh, intelligent, and quietly moving. Keep your eyes wide open to watch his star ascend.

Matt Ray Lost in New York (CAP)
This is a genuine love letter to the extraordinary city of New York. Ray's new CD reflects the diversity of New York. It's a collection of moments — tender, thoughtful, gritty, playful — all guided by one of the most underrated pianists in jazz. There's a mix of originals and standards, with Coltrane's Central Park West shining like a full moon over the Chrysler Building. Simply marvelous.

Kurt Elling Nightmoves (Concord)
Pull off the shrink wrap on this CD and stand back — Kurt Elling takes command immediately and will not be denied. And really, who dares deny such a gift anyway? Elling's new CD moves through the tricky phases of love with quiet intensity. His regular guy voice goes bravely into heartbreak and ecstasy alike. You'll be undone by his unconventional choices and raw emotion.

Hear GLT Blues all weekend at 89.1 and 103.5 FM, and listen online 24/7 at www.wglr.org. GLT Music Director Jon Norton recommends these CDs from artists you'll get the chance to see at local blues festivals. See lineups for three festivals on pgs 4–6.

Tab Benoit Album Fever For The Bayou (Telarc)
Benoit peppers Fever For The Bayou with covers from legendary bluesmen like Buddy Guy, Slim Harpo, and Elmore James. This CD is certainly blues, but the dash of soul, hint of country, and sprinkling of funk give this 2005 release the gumbo sound of his native Louisiana.

Sue Foley/Deborah Coleman/Roxanne Potvin Time Bomb (Ruf)
Time Bomb smokes from beginning (the blistering title track) to end (the funky In the Basement). Coleman, Foley, and Potvin trade vocals (and guitar licks) that are tender, defiant, and confessional, sometimes all in the same song. It's no small feat, but Time Bomb is the best release to date for each of these extremely talented musicians.

Watermelon Slim & the Workers The Wheel Man (Northern Blues)
Trying to peg Watermelon Slim (a.k.a. Bill Homans) is like trying to catch water. He's a truck-driving Vietnam vet, holder of several University degrees, member of MENSA, and award-winning blues musician. Slim isn't out to reinvent the blues, but his smart, insightful lyrics, country twang, and crack band gives The Wheel Man a fresh take on a classic blues sound.

Jr. Boy Jones Jr. Boy Live (43rd Big Idea Records)
At 16, Andrew "Jr. Boy" Jones was playing with The Thunderbirds, Freddie King's backing band. In the late 80s/early 90s, he was playing guitar alongside harmonica master Charlie Musselwhite on the road and in the studio. Jr. Boy Live showcases his strong songwriting skills, solid guitar playing, soulful voice, and sense-of humor.

Climate Connections

How we are shaping the climate.
How the climate is shaping us.

A yearlong initiative from NPR and National Geographic.

CLIMATE CONNECTIONS

The long-term effects of global climate change may still be in debate, but evidence is clear that change is happening, and that people have to change in response.

NPR and National Geographic have expanded their 15-year partnership to co-produce the first long-term, multi-platform media project focused solely on the profound relationship between humans and the climate. The centerpiece of the project is a yearlong NPR® news series, Climate Connections, that spans Morning Edition®, All Things Considered®, Weekend Edition®, and NPR.org as well as National Geographic's many media platforms, including National Geographic magazine and nationalgeographic.com.

Climate Connections is much more than a string of dry reports filled with statistics and timelines. The series brings our relationship with the climate home by covering everything from listeners' questions about the environment, to periodic visits with a carbon-counting family; from traveling to a different international region every month, to profiling environmental decision makers and activists. Videos, interactive maps, archived audio, and photographs at both NPR.org and nationalgeographic.com.

amplify the news coverage and feature stories to make Climate Connections an exceptional "on demand" resource for lay people, teachers, students, activists, and researchers.

Climate Connections brings the power of radio together with the reach of the Internet and the depth of print journalism. The result is an initiative that illuminates a critical issue that should be at the front of every thinking person's mind. It's what you expect from GLT and NPR. It's what you help pay for with your financial support.

Catch Climate Connections weekday mornings on GLT during Morning Edition®, weekday afternoons on All Things Considered®, and Saturday and Sunday mornings on Weekend Edition®. Be sure to visit www.wglt.org for updates as the series evolves and to find links to Climate Connections websites.

GLT Night at

by GLT Events and Promotions Director Linda Healy

ILLINOIS
Shakespeare Festival

Take an August night, throw a million stars across the sky, add a freshly grilled summer meal, a couple of bands to gentle you into the evening, and a troupe of Shakespearean actors second to none. It's GLT Night at the Illinois Shakespeare Festival, which has become one of the most anticipated events of the summer. GLT has the entire house for this performance of Love's Labour's Lost. We're offering a complete evening beginning with live jazz and acoustic music, and a meal catered by Biaggi's Ristorante Italiano (grilled on site by Chef Scott). Dessert, compliments of Carl's Ice Cream, is included. Biaggi's will also offer a cash wine bar.

All of this for $39 — the same price you would pay for just the play.

The newly landscaped grounds of Ewing Manor will open at 4:00 pm for you to find a shady spot for your lawnchair or blanket. The music begins at 4:15 pm, dinner service runs from 4:30–6:30 pm. Following dinner, the Illinois Shakespeare Festival will treat you to a Green Show in the cobblestone courtyard. The theater opens at 7:30 pm for general admission seating to Love's Labour's Lost, a comedic look at the tangle of unrequited love.

GLT Nights are sellouts, so early ticket purchase is recommended. While tickets are general admission seating, entrance is staggered in the order of ticket purchase — another good reason to buy yours early. Proceeds from this exclusive event benefit the GLT Equipment Fund.

*"Your wit's too hot,
it speeds too fast,
'twill tire."*

Radio Faces

Correspondent Don Gonyea has been reporting for NPR since 1986, and took over the White House beat in 2001. His reports on the Presidency of George W. Bush are a fixture on all NPR programs and at npr.org. Gonyea is also a regular substitute host for the NPR newsmagazines including Morning Edition®. In November of 2006 he co-anchored NPR's coverage of historic elections when Democrats captured control of the U.S. House and Senate. Lately he's been traveling with Democratic and Republican presidential hopefuls for 2008.

In 2000, Gonyea chronicled the controversial presidential election and ensuing legal recount battles in the courts. On the morning of September 11, 2001, he provided live reports from the White House following the evacuation of the building. He has covered the administration during wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. During the 2004 campaign, he traveled with President Bush and Democratic nominee John Kerry. He was present at President Bush's first-ever meeting with Russia's Vladimir Putin in Slovenia in 2001, and for subsequent — at times testy — meetings between the two leaders in St. Petersburg, Shanghai, and Bratislava.

Tickets are available at two levels:

The In-Depth Story, $100 ticket starts with an elegant cocktail hour with hors d'oeuvres, open bar, and a chance to meet Don Gonyea one on one. Afterwards, enjoy dinner with wine, and Mr. Gonyea's presentation.

In The News, $50 ticket includes dinner with wine, and Mr. Gonyea's presentation.

You can purchase individual tickets or a table of 10 at either level.

To order full tables or individual tickets, go to www.wglt.org or call (309) 438-8910.

Renewal by Andersen

The only thing you won't like about getting new replacement windows from Renewal by Andersen is deciding which one of the 3 trillion (yes, with a 't') models you like best. Otherwise, the decision is easy. Every one of the 3 trillion is energy star certified, which means you save money on your taxes and on your energy bills. Renewal by Andersen is the first window manufacturer to be Green Seal Certified, which means their manufacturing process is less costly to the environment as well.

Recently, GLT Development Director Kathryn Carter met Sam Heer, General Manager of Renewal by Andersen Central Illinois, when she needed replacement windows. They got to talking and discovered their mutual interest in GLT. Sam, of course, was appreciative of doing business with Kathryn. As a big fan of GLT, he was even more excited about supporting the station by becoming a corporate underwriter.

Doubletree Hotel & Conference Center

In 2005, it was Steve Inskeep. In 2006, it was Liane Hansen. This coming November, Don Gonyea will be the guest speaker for Radio Faces, held every year at the Doubletree Hotel & Conference Center in Bloomington. See pg 14 for details on Mr. Gonyea's visit.

Director of Sales and Marketing Gary Wilson has been instrumental in making our annual Radio Faces event an overwhelming success year after year. As a member of the GLT Friends Council, Gary continues to provide insight and leadership on a variety of other GLT projects as well.

Gary's best piece of advice about the Doubletree: show up hungry. When you check in, you are served warm, fresh-baked cookies that make you feel like you haven't left home. The Doubletree remodeling in 2006 of the entire complex (including new furniture, carpet, and wall coverings in every room of the hotel) created a luxurious feel to the guest rooms and lobby. The understated elegance of the conference rooms and ball-rooms makes any occasion, whether it's a meeting, wedding reception, or presentation, feel special.

BroMenn Regional Medical Center

Nestled between two of Normal's most cherished historic districts lies BroMenn Regional Medical Center. The former Brokaw Hospital has been in the same location since 1894, when these now remarkable neighborhoods were still wide-open fields. As the neighborhoods that surround it flourished, so did BroMenn, always staying on the forefront of medicine. This year, BroMenn became the third downstate medical center to be designated a Primary Stroke Center by the Joint Commission, an achievement earned through excellence in caring for stroke patients.

Beyond state-of-the-art medical care, BroMenn Regional Medical Center offers the area a host of additional services that make the community a healthier place to live, including exercise classes, CPR classes, cholesterol screenings, and classes for expecting parents. Supporting GLT furthers BroMenn's commitment to making Central Illinois a great place to live.

Prairie Oak Veterinary Center

As the world of human healthcare has evolved into a complicated network of specialists and assistants, veterinary care has remained refreshingly simple. That's one of the things Dr. Matt Fraker of Prairie Oak Veterinary Center likes most about his job. There is a strong sense of trust between him and his patients because he can handle all their healthcare needs, from preventative medicine, to regular checkups to cancer surgery. Year after year, Dr. Fraker and his staff get to know their clients hand-to-paw, and many of these relationships last a lifetime. In fact, the lobby at POVC is lined with personalized photos of hundreds of past and present pets.

Dr. Fraker also feels a strong connection to the community. Whenever possible, he patronizes locally owned businesses. His support for GLT is an example of that as well, but he also supports GLT because he's an avid listener. He became hooked on NPR as a bachelor when he and his dog, Hobbs, would travel the country on backpacking trips, and was thrilled to discover that one of the best NPR member stations in the country is in his own backyard.

Prairie Oak Veterinary Center is located at 207 B Landmark Drive, Normal.
